TO DISCOVER ELECTROLOSIS.

The City Ordinance in Respect to the Proper Adjustment of Trolley Tracks to be Strictly Enforced in Future, ther point, which he attributed to not that the Clay street line made eny other point, which he attributed to the fact that the Clay street line made a circuit by crossing Broad and Seventh and again at Hancock.

Letters from various cities were read by the Superintendent along the line of responsibility, and not one of them failed to state that the trolley companies were held responsible.

In reply to a question, Superintendent Thompson stated that a thorough insulation of the double trolley system would prevent electrolosis. He cited the danger that had been threatened the Brooklyn Bridge by the use of the overhead trolley, and electricians came to the rescue, with the result that the double trolley system superceded the single wire.

THE CITY ORDINANCE.

Mr. Bolling read the city ordinance on the subject, passed in 1896, prescribing the manner in which the rails shall be connected in such manner as to conduct the current along the track in a perfect manner, and putting a penalty of not less than 425 nor more than $20 for each day's violation of the ordinance. He said that neither company had compiled with the ordinance and to do so would entail considerable expense at this time.

Mr. Polland thought if that were the ty electricism, and that the existing or-names be strictly enforced. The committee then adjourned.

A NARROW ESCAPE

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Thankful words written by Mrs. Ada E. Hart, of Groton, S. D.; "Was taken with a bad cold which settled on my lungs; cough set in and finally terminated in consumption. Four doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Saviour, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth. I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial; took in all eight bottles. It has cured me, and, thank God, I am saved and am now a well and healthy woman."

Trial bottles free at Owens and Minor Drug Company's. Regular size 50c. and $1, Guaranteed or price refunded.

"The Taimud tells us (Pesachim 88) that by Auraham the house of worship was called a mountain," for God appeared to him on a mountain. To Isaac it was a field, for Isaac went to mediate in surge of the returning sea. The wandering tabernucle of the desert was replaced by Solomon's glorious edifice, and on its ruins was built the later structure of which Haggat said (xi., 3) the glory of the second house shall be greater than that of the first.'

"Yet when that resplendent temple lay in ruins beneath the teet of the Roman legions, when desolation and despolation trod hard upon the heels of destruction, when the bodies of the dead and the ashes of the temple lay mingled in one great, awful horror, when the golden vessels of the sacred service and the noble sons of a sacred priesthood were carried away to grace a Roman triumph to be borne amid the jeers and the jibes of the Roman rabble, it was then there rose in the consciousness of Israel the flash of Isalah's glorious vision. Thus hath said the Lord, the heaven is my throne and the earth my footstool, where is the house that you can build to me, where is the piace of my rest?"

GOD'S HOUSE.

is the house that you can build to me, where is the place of my rest?"
GOD'S HOUSE.
"The visible universe is God's house of worship, and in it not man alone, but all nature, animate and inanimate and forever echoing the peans of His praise. The heavens are the throne of God. Every orb that wheels in its unerring creuit, every planet that moves on its impeccable path, every glorious corstellation that flashes its radiance to bewilder the eye of man; sun, moon, stars and worlds, all

God hath established when He said to man, behold the fear of the Lord is wis-dom and to refrain from evil is under-

The centuried truths of morality and religion are thrust aside, and the incense of adoration is burned on the altar of what is termed modern science, modern research, modern philosophy, etc. This has invaded even the house of worship, and the pulpits of the land are busying themselves with things that no more represent the genuine purpose of a house of worship, and the genuine purpose of a house of worship. manifestation of the wonderful washon of God, that every bug, bird, beast and bush is a beam from the radiance of the cosmic revelation which God gives, as day after day He reneweth the marvels of creation. HOUSE OF INSTRUCTION.
"The science here to be learned is that of the righteous life, the research here to be made is that of our daily conduct, the knowledge to be gained is that of the law of God, the philosophy to be obtained is not that which follows from an empirical acquaintance with the laws of the universe, nor even from reverent speculation, but it is rather that deep and unmoved calm, that is born of a faith which sees the apparent accidents, evils and ills of life to be, not accidents, evils or life, but the wise and useful accessories of our soul-training, the uner-HOUSE OF INSTRUCTION. essories of our soul-training, the une

At night Dr. Potts spoke of the "Break-waters of Sin." He referred to the pulpit, the church and the individual Christian as breakwaters of sin. The text was taken from Isalah. 59: 15th verse, He pointed to the responsibility resting upon each; i. e., the denunciation of sin in every form, not a denunciation in a sugar-coated dose or dressed in beautiful language; but lift up the standard against it.
